Quick guide: committee

Close voting early when needed, check and approve results, and request a correction when something is wrong. All of it happens on the Committee page.

1. Open the Committee page

Sign in with the Google account the office registered as a committee member, then tap "Committee" in the menu. Buttons at the top count the work and jump to each part. The page has two parts: "1. Approve results" (required) for results waiting for approval, and "2. Close voting early" (optional) for meetings that are open for voting.

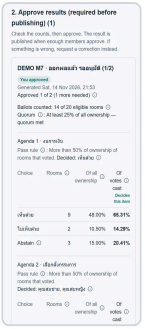

2. (If needed) Propose closing voting early

Without a request, voting closes on time by itself. To close earlier, tap "Propose closing early" on that meeting, give a reason, choose "As soon as approved" or "At this time", then tap "Send request" and "Confirm". Every committee member is emailed and asked to answer.

3. Answer a request to close early

The request shows on that meeting with who proposed it, the reason, and a count such as "Approved 1 of 2 (1 more needed)". Tap "Approve closing" or "Object". Objecting needs a reason, which is kept for audit. When enough members approve, voting closes as requested. When the members who have not answered are too few to reach the number needed, the request "Did not pass" at once.

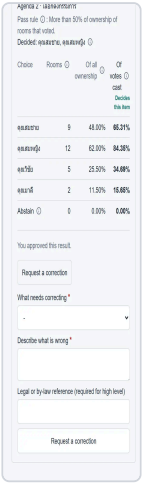

4. Check a result before approving

After voting closes, the admin generates the result, and it appears under "1. Approve results". Check the ballots counted against the eligible rooms, the quorum, and each agenda result against its pass rule. Tap the "i" next to the approval count to see who has approved.

5. Approve the result

If the numbers are correct, add a note if you like (optional), tap "Approve result", then "Confirm". The card shows "You approved". When enough members approve, the result is published, owners are emailed, and the PDF files are made.

6. Request a correction when something is wrong

Do not approve. Tap "Request a correction", choose "What needs correcting", fill in "Describe what is wrong", then tap "Send correction request" and confirm ("Cancel" folds the form away). The admin is notified and must answer every request with "Fixed" or "No change needed" and a reason. Other members can still approve meanwhile, but the result is not published until the admin answers.

7. Approve again after a correction

When the admin fixes the data and generates the result again, approvals start again from zero. The new card says "Generated again after a correction request" with the reason, and which agenda items changed. Members who approved the earlier result are emailed to review again. The earlier result and the request stay in the history.

8. For auditors

Auditors see the "Audit" menu: published results with their official records, correction requests, and the latest audit log entries. It is read only; an auditor cannot change or approve anything.

Frequently asked questions

How do the correction levels differ?
Low: a typo in agenda or choice wording; numbers do not change; the admin fixes the wording and generates again. · Medium: room data or ownership share, voting rights or proxy, a paper ballot entered wrong or missing, and "Other"; the admin fixes it with evidence attached and generates again, showing which numbers changed. · High: the pass rule or quorum was set wrong, or an eligible owner could not vote; needs a legal or by-law reference; it cannot be fixed inside the result; it is decided outside the system (a committee meeting or legal advice), then either published with a note approved by every member, or the agenda item is voided and taken to a new meeting.

Why does "Other" start at medium?
So "Other" cannot be used to change data quietly. Every medium or high fix needs evidence, and every committee member is told.

What cannot be corrected?
Votes that owners submitted online, and a result that members simply disagree with.

I do not see "Approve result", or approving fails
You may have approved it already, you may have generated the result or corrected its data, or you may not be an active committee member. Ask the admin to check the committee list.

I approved and then found a mistake. What now?
An approval cannot be taken back, and a member who approved cannot request a correction in the system. Tell the admin, or a member who has not approved yet, so they can send a correction request.

What can an admin who is not on the committee do here?
Propose closing voting early. They cannot answer requests or approve results.

How many approvals are needed?
The admin sets it per meeting, and the same number applies to closing early and to approving results. A result with a high-level correction needs every active committee member.
